STORE
Stop by to browse in our Berkeley store whenever you are in the Bay Area. You will find various items from time to time that are not listed in the catalog. (For instance, during the ski season we offer a complete line of downhill equipment and clothing.)
To reach us, simply take the University Avenue exit from Interstate 80 and continue to the fifth traffic light (University Avenue and California Street).

SERVICE
We work to provide you with the fastest possible service. Orders received are processed and in the mail the SAME DAY.

GUARANTEE
All items purchased from The Ski Hut are guaranteed. If you are not completely satisfied, for any reason, return the merchandise for a complete refund, including surface shipping both ways. We take the risk, you decide.

PRICES
Prices in this catalog will be maintained whenever possible. Unfortunately we are living in inflationary times. This economic instability is especially reflected in the prices of imported products. On small increases the merchandise is shipped and you will be billed for the difference. Most of our customers prefer to receive the merchandise rather than wait to be notified of the new price. If a price increase is unsatisfactory, return the merchandise and you will receive a complete refund including the cost of return surface postage.

A NOTE ABOUT ICELANDIC WOOL. Icelandic sheep were brought to the island by Viking settlers in the 9th and 10th centuries and the breed has remained uncrossed ever since. The unique fleece of these sheep is characterized by two distinctive types of hair and by color variety. Long coarse guard hair in the outer coat provides protection from the rain, wind and snow, while dense fine underhairs growing closer to the skin insulate against the cold. During the centuries since their introduction, the wool of the Icelandic sheep has evolved so that the long hair in the fleece is longer, thinner and glossier and the soft, silky under-hair has become longer and denser and comprises a greater proportion of the fleece, resulting in the world's longest and lightest wool. The combination of long guard hair and light underfleece has been likened to a mixture of mohair and merino. It is a feathery soft natural insulation that is both windproof and water repellent. The five natural color variations of Icelandic wool are: white, malt, black, grey and brown.

IRISH FISHERMEN'S SWEATERS. A Ski Hut import from County Cork. These traditional handknit sweaters are identical to those worn by the rugged fishermen of the British Isles. Pivetta

In 1951 George Rudolf, founder of The Ski Hut, was in Europe to locate a manufacturer of superior mountaineering boots. His search led him to Montebelluna, Italy, the center of quality boot making in Italy. In Montebelluna he was so impressed with the Pivetta Firm and their 150-year-old tradition of hand workmanship, incomparable comfort, durability and functional design that he immediately began to work with Pivetta in developing a line of mountaineering boots suited to the American market.

First of all an appropriate last had to be developed—proportioned for American feet and with sufficient swing to it to enable the foot to assume its natural shape. For hiking, the last should permit considerable freedom in the toe section, allowing the large toe to function as a thrusting element. The famous Munson last developed for the U.S. Army seemed to lend itself to this application. However, even this last needed to be modified to create boots suitable for American mountaineering and trail use. After two years of experimentation, the last now in use for our Pivetta boots was created. We believe this last to be excellent for the American foot and to provide the best fit of any boot in today's market.

We invite you to compare these features with other manufacturer's products which often seek to copy Pivetta quality.

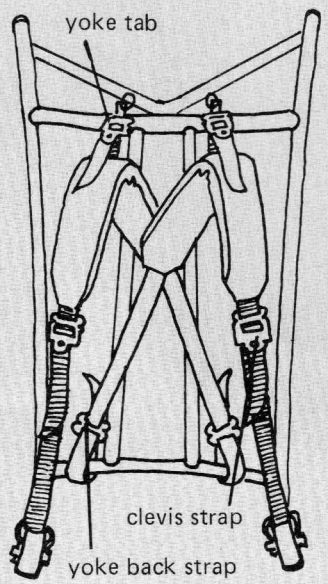
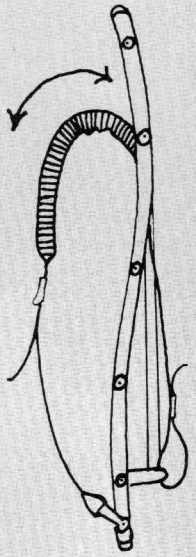
TRAILWISE PACK FRAME





PACKFRAME ADJUSTING INSTRUCTIONS

The following steps should be taken when adjusting the suspension system of the Trailwise packframe.

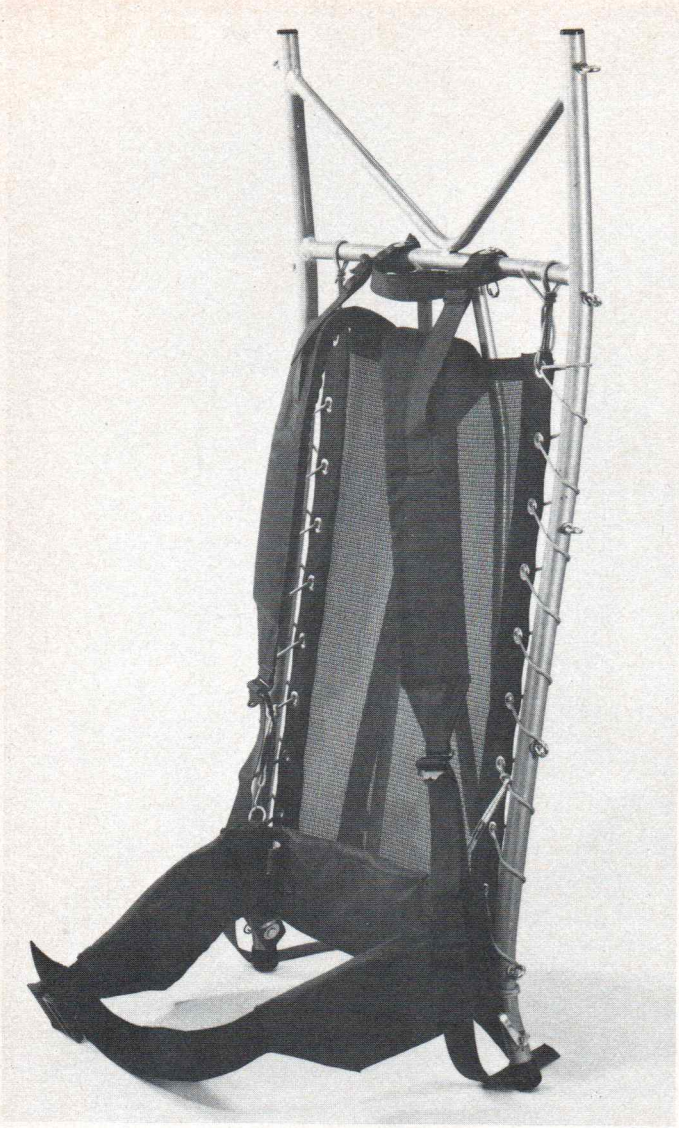
Step 1: The padded hip belt should encircle the hips below the waist and on the flare of the hips and buttocks. Belt placement can be assisted by leaning forward slightly and hunching up the packframe with the back and shoulders until the belt is in the proper position. Cinch up the belt.

Step 2: Release the slide fasteners on the yoke back straps. Move the yoke assembly forward or backward to that point where the tabs connected to the yoke are slightly forward of the center of the shoulders. Reset the slide fasteners. This adjustment need only be made on the initial fitting of the packframe.

Step 3: Pull down on the clevis straps until pressure from the yoke is felt on the top of the shoulders.

Step 4: Pull forward on the yoke tabs to bring the mesh back panel up snug against the back.

Step 5: Release the clevis straps slightly. This should allow the packframe to settle down on the hips.



TRAILWISE CONTOUR FRAME. Rugged (6061-T6) aluminum alloy; contour plus taper. Features adjustable Ensolite-padded cross straps which give excellent weight distribution, reducing the localized pressure on the shoulders inherent in all ordinary shoulder strap suspensions. Full nylon mesh back between pack and wearer. Wide 3½" full circle padded hip belt comfortably transfers most of weight to hips when desired. Nylon hauling strap securely fastened to frame. Riv-nuts for mounting Trailwise pack bags included.

TRAILWISE PACKFRAMES AND BAGS

Trailwise packframes are designed and constructed with comfort, durability and lightness as the foremost considerations.

A packframe that is comfortable to wear is the result of (1) a well-contoured and shaped frame and packbag that place the load as close to the body as is practical, (2) a padded suspension system that allows the majority of the load weight to be placed directly on the hips, and (3) a full mesh pack panel, originated by Trailwise, which distributes weight and allows maximum air circulation between pack and wearer.

The Trailwise contour frame shapes the load around the back and extends the effective carrying area of the back, both in width and in height.

The Trailwise frame is constructed of a non-corrosive, aluminum alloy thick-wall tubing. All parts of the frame contribute to its structural strength because there are no loose or unwelded parts. Every joint is heli-arc welded. The Trailwise packbag is attached to the frame with steel eyebolts and aluminum Rivnuts. This combination of eyebolt and Rivnut attachment has a strength advantage over the usual clevis pin and wire attachment in that the frame need only be drilled from one side, plus the Rivnut helps to reinforce this hole. The eyebolts can be used as lashing points.

The three-quarter length packbags can be mounted in either a high or a low position on the frame depending on where the center of gravity of the load is desired. The high position is used for maximum loads on a relatively smooth trail, and the low position is used for climbing or for rough terrain where balance becomes an important consideration. Both the full length packbag and the three-quarter length packbags extend the full width of the frame.

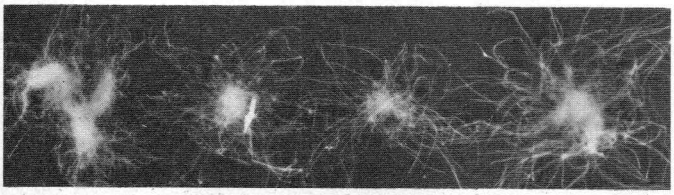
SLEEPING BAGS

A warm, lightweight sleeping bag is essential to the backpacker's comfort and is probably his most important single purchase. Choose your bag for the coldest use expected and select the highest quality that you can afford.

TRAILWISE MATERIALS

Materials used in the construction of Trailwise bags are of the highest quality available.

TENAYA NYLON was developed by Trailwise for use in constructing down-filled sleeping bags. Beginning with a 50 denier high-tenacity thread, Tenaya is tightly woven with 168 x 100 threads per inch. This resulting high density, combined with a special finishing process, produces a down-proof, water-resistant fabric with low permiability. Tenaya has a smooth even texture and its weight to strength ratio is outstanding.



DOWN. A sleeping bag does not produce warmth; it acts as an insulator to conserve body heat. Ounce for ounce, down provides more insulative dead air space than any other material. Down varies greatly in quality. The best down is obtained from mature geese. Even the best down comes in two quality grades: "bag-grade" down (used by most manufacturers) contains from 12% to 20% feathers; "garment-grade" down (used by Trailwise) which contains only 8% to 12% feathers and has a minimum filling capacity of 550 cu. in.

TRAILWISE DESIGN AND CONSTRUCTION

SHAPE. All Trailwise bags are of a mummy design. While a mummy is more confining than the rectangualr bag, it significantly increases the insulating efficiency while keeping weight to a minimum.

BAFFLES. Hot-cut from strong nylon netting and sewn between the two shells to contain the down and to prevent its shifting and bunching. Trailwise uses a slant baffle which is offset a full half-tube width for maximum loft. These baffles are sewn into a Chevron pattern which further reduces down-shift and places cross-tension on the shell material, rather than on the stitching, for a much stronger bag. Each baffle is separately sewn off to make each down tube a closed unit, completely eliminating down-shift between tubes.

DIFFERENTIAL. All sleeping bags consist of an inner and an outer shell holding insulating material between them. To achieve maximum lofting and to prevent cold spots, Trailwise sleeping bags are differently designed, i.e. the inner shell is smaller in dimension than the outer shell.

ZIPPERS. All Trailwise bags come with a No. 5 YKK nylon double slider zipper which may be opened independently from head or foot for optimum temperature control and ventilation. Trailwise bags may be zipped together to form a double bag even though length and style may vary.

DRAFT FLAP. Trailwise uses a down-filled draft flap to seal off bag zippers and eliminate this potentially cold area. These oversize flaps are offset, overlapping, and attached with two widely spaced seams to assure a positive draft seal.

HOOD. The hood and shoulder areas of Trailwise sleeping bags are shaped and contoured so that they readily form a smooth effective hood when pulled shut.

FINISH. All exposed raw edges of Trailwise sleeping bags are covered with nylon bias tape. Each bag is constructed by a single seamstress who is personally responsible for that bag, assuring quality control impossible with assembly line construction.

Sleeping bag temperature ratings are relative and should be used only as an index of comparison between bags. The low temperature range of a bag depends on many factors: adequate ground insulation, humidity, wind speed, and most important, the metabolic rate and physical condition of the sleeper. There is considerable individual variation both in the ability of the body to produce heat and to tolerate cold. Thermal underwear, sleeping bag, covers, and tents significantly increase the effective temperature ratings.

The cruising man's guide to mountain travel (among other things) . . .

. . . If you get off on trips between your travels, we are certain you will enjoy Mountain Gazette — a monthly magazine for all seasons.

This past year you have missed a jeep trip from Chamonix, France, to Pakistan with Jeremy Bernstein; a love affair on a ferry to Alaska and a successful ascent of the Devil's Thumb by Lito Tejada-Flores; a trek in monsoon to Everest base camp and a walk around a holy mountain in Navaholand by Robert Schultheis (among other things) a run down the Omo River in Ethiopia and a drive on "No Road" across the desert in a new Ford convertible with Ed Abbey at the wheel (among many more things).

"Eccentric, intriguish, imaginative, handsome, light and fanciful, startling, enjoyable and eminently readable" — all words used by reviewers this year in describing Mountain Gazette. We like to think of it as a moveable feast of critical reviews, high adventure, low life and shared joys and sorrows that will sometimes help you get from here to there and will always entertain.

A subscription to Mountain Gazette is $6 for 1 year (12 issues); $9 for two years or $12 for three years. Use the coupon or drop us a note.
